BAC protests funding cut by S-senate

By Diana Penner
Staff Writer

The Student Senate has voted to give the two editors of the Uhuru Sa-Sa, the Black Affairs Council newspaper, grants-in-aid of $420 each for the spring term.

About 35 members of the BAC crowded into a small Student Center activity room for Wednesday's senate meeting to protest the senate's decision last week to rescind the funding of the editorships of the Uhuru Sa-Sa.

The senate had voted to rescind a $1,920 allocation for the wages of the editors for the spring term.

The bill passed Wednesday stipulates that the difference between the original funding and the grants-in-aid be returned to BAC, earmarked for programming.

Several of the BAC members at the meeting carried signs which said "No compromise," "We shall not be fooled!" and "We've been silenced too long," among others.

Undergraduate Student Organization President Pete Alexander last week vetoed the bill rescinding the funding. He said he did not want the senate to set a precedent of taking away allocated funds from groups after they had budgeted activities based on that allocation. He also said that much of the debate at last week's senate meeting centered around the quality and merits of the paper rather than the reasons outlined in the bill for rescinding the funding.

In rescinding the funding, the senate said the original allocation was "incongruent with allocations given to other groups."

Vice president fields questions at GSC meeting

Mace: Athletics program must have fee increase

By Charity Gould
Staff Writer

The Intercollegiate Athletics Program can not function without an increase in student fees, George Mace, vice president for University relations, told the Graduate Student Council recently.

At a GSC question and answer session Wednesday, Mace said other alternatives are being looked into, but an increase in student fees is the best solution.

Mace also said rumors that claim most major universities do not use direct student fees as the major source of income for their intercollegiate athletics programs are false.

"Most state universities do use student fees as their major source of income for intercollegiate athletics," Mace said. "In fact, most other colleges have their students paying $50 to $54 a semester."

Mike Higbee, graduate in student development asked Mace: "Didn't Athletic director Gale Sayers say that an athletics program couldn't run on student fees as the primary source of funds?"

Mace said, "Nobody I know has said that students shouldn't be the major source of income for the program."

Gary Brown, GSC president, asked if Mace agreed with Pete Alexander's proposal of a declining athletics fee that would eventually be phased out within five years.

"I do not see that in the liking," Mace said.

One GSC member asked whether the increased fee would be used to retain the current status of the Intercollegiate Athletics Program.

"The answer is yes and no," Mace said. "The men's program would be kept at the same level but the women's program would be upgraded."

Mace also said water polo was added as the 12th sport of the men's program in order to be in compliance with the National Collegiate Athletic Association guidelines instead of volleyball or soccer because the cost of the sport is low.

Pat Ostenburg, GSC representative to the Intercollegiate Athletics Committee, told the council later that the IAC tabled the $10 athletics fee proposal at its Tuesday meeting because of "doubts of the validity of Mace's support of the fee."

Ostenburg said the committee questioned adding a 12th sport when the University can't support the other 11. She also said the IAC members did not all agree that water polo is the best sport to choose when volleyball or soccer are more popular and would generate more money in the long run.

Mace responding to a question concerning the low grades of athletes said a study done by the University shows that athletes have higher grade point averages than the rest of the students at SIU-C.

Ostenburg told the GSC that the IAC commended five members of the football team that were named to the Missouri Valley Conference All Academic Team. "But, the gpa requirement was a 2.8 on a 4.0 scale," she said.

Council changes incompletes policy

By Charity Gould
Staff Writer

Incompletes in graduate courses will no longer become F's under a change in policy approved Thursday by the Graduate Council.

Previously incompletes were changed to F's if the courses were not completed within two years. Under the new policy, there will no longer be a time limit to make up the grade, unless the instructor who assigns the incomplete directs otherwise.

Gary Brown, graduate student council president said he was pleased with the decision.

In October, the GSC passed a resolution requesting the Graduate Council's Educational Policies Committee to change the policy.

"This was one case where a student constituency recommended an action and something was accomplished because of it," Brown said.

Brown said if a student had an incomplete changed to an F under the previous policy, it may be changed back to an incomplete.

In other action, the council tabled action on the late registration fee for graduates until additional information is submitted to the council before its next meeting in February.

The original proposal recommends that a late registration fee be assessed to graduates if tuition and fees are not paid by the 10th day of the semester.

City hotline to keep residents posted on snowfall

By Mary Ann McNulty
Staff Writer

Although city workers probably are not singing "let it snow, let it snow, let it snow," they are prepared for whatever this winter may bring.

Randy Jackson, coordinator of the emergency services and disaster agency, said the city office will operate a hotline to answer any questions residents may have about the weather or conditions during periods of excess snowfall.

The program was designed this year to provide a central location for Carbondale residents to report special needs or find out the status of city services, according to Jackson.

The ESDA, Police Department, Public Works Department, and city administration will operate the program from the City Hall complex, 607 E. College St.

In the event of a severe winter storm, Carbondale residents may call the City Hall complex, 607 E. College St.

The ESDA number is 549-5302 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. and 549-5021 after 5 p.m.

Jackson said this program was designed to reduce the number of phone calls that the Police Department, city switchboard and Public Works Department usually receive during snowfalls.

Public Works Department employees will also be putting up snow emergency notification signs, should Carroll J. Fry, city manager, declare a snow emergency in the city.

The yellow and black signs will be posted on city streets that are designated snow routes. About one-third of Carbondale streets are snow routes, marked by blue and white snowman signs.

Automobile owners have six hours from the time a snow emergency has been declared to remove their cars from the routes, according to Wayne Wheelers, assistant street superintendent.

"After that, the car is subject to tow," Wheelers said.

The snow emergency notification signs were posted during the last snowfall last year.

The signs must be posted to let residents know of a snow emergency, in accordance with the city's snow ordinance.

A new snowplow the city ordered had not yet been delivered Thursday. Wheelers said the truck is supposed to arrive next week.

SNOW EMERGENCY NOTIFICATION

THE CITY MANAGER HAS DECLARED A SNOW EMERGENCY IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE POWERS GRANTED TO HIM BY ORDINANCE NUMBER 78-08. NO VEHICLES MAY BE PARKED ON THIS STREET AFTER () ANY VEHICLES PARKED ON THIS STREET AFTER THAT TIME WILL BE TICKETED AND TOWED AWAY SO THAT THE CITY SNOW PLOWS CAN COMPLETELY CLEAR THIS STREET.

Survey polls non-traditional student

By Paula Donner Walter
Staff Writer

A 50-year-old mother goes back to college after her children leave home. A married undergraduate couple continues its education. A single parent enrolls in night courses while handling a full-time job.

These are all examples of the non-traditional student, which is defined as any student who is not a full-time student between 17 and 24 years of age, said Bruce Swinburne, vice president for student affairs.

According to Swinburne, a closer look should be taken at the services provided for the non-traditional student population at SIU-C.

"We're pretty good at providing the services we do to conventional college-age students, but some way, in dealing with non-traditional students, we don't provide services as meaningful or effective," he said.

In order to identify the needs of these students, Swinburne and the Non-traditional Student Committee have sent out a survey at random to 900 of these students.

Jally Watson, a member of the committee, said the first part of the survey focuses on the degree of usage of existing services and reasons why services are not used. The second section is an attempt to poll the students on what type of potential services are needed.

"The survey is an attempt to look at present services of SIU-C, get some feedback on their utilization of services and why they do or do not use them. It also asks the students what they would like to see added," Watson said.

Swinburne said the number of non-traditional students is on the rise nationally, and ac-

Dance theater funding OK'd

The Student Senate has approved a $400 funding request for the Southern Illinois Repertory Dance Theater.

After several previous requests, the group received the allocation at the senate meeting Wednesday.

The group has had difficulty obtaining funding this semester. It had previously been partially funded by the Theater Department, but lost that support this semester.

Members of the senate Finance Committee were unsuccessful in attempts to secure funding for the group through the physical education and theater departments.

Last year, the group received a $250 allocation, a cut from the allocation of $1,500 the year before.

Khomeini appeals for national unity

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini urgently appealed for national unity Thursday after two days of clashes between opponents and supporters of Iran's Islamic Constitution that was overwhelmingly approved by voters this week. He asked the nation to focus, instead on the conflict with the United States.

At the same time, Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said he and Khomeini agreed the U.N. Security Council resolution on the U.S.-Iran crisis was a "step forward" to negotiated settlement, the official Pars news agency reported. The crisis centers on demands that the ousted shah be sent to Iran in return for the

China extinguishes Democracy Wall

PEKING (AP) — The municipal government on Thursday extinguished Democracy Wall in the heart of the city, apparently because of anti-government views published there, and provided a new, out-of-the-way wall for posters.

The government said it acted because "certain people with ulterior motives had wrapped themselves in the banner of 'democracy' to damage socialist democracy..."

America was disgraced by past foreign policy

Colman
McCarthy

WASHINGTON—However the hostage crisis in Tehran is eventually resolved—by words or by guns—it needs to be understood that the past weeks have not been a time of national humiliation.

As we have watched the ayatollah and his mob—some burning the American flag, others carrying out the garbage with it—the heated cry has been, “They’re humiliating us.” No disgrace could be worse, it is said. The world’s mightiest power stands by in mute helplessness while a deranged old man gives it the business.

The trouble with the humiliation argument is that for a nation to be humbled some authentic pride had to be present in the first place.

What is America proud of in its relations with the Iranian people these past decades? That our government engineered a coup in 1953, that our money and weapons went in staggering amounts to the Shah who used them to kill, imprison or exile tens of thousands of his countrymen, that we looked away when groups like Amnesty International repeatedly documented the repression, that we rejoiced the Shah and his Washington ambassador, Ardeshir Zahedi, were darlings of the international party circuit?

Those were moments for us to feel humiliation. Our ideals were disgraced. The wounds to the nation’s honor were real, not the perceived shame of the past three weeks. If Khomeini has lost his senses, many Americans thought that Jimmy Carter lost some of his two years ago in his celebrated New Year’s toast to the Shah as “an island of stability in an unstable world.”

Those who take pride in America’s authentic strength—its impulse for generosity, compassion and justice—have felt humiliated before by our foreign policies. In the past 10 years, some of the tyrants bolstered by our weapons and investments have been so conspicuously brutal to political dissenters that we haven’t been able to avoid knowing them: Somoza in Nicaragua, Park in South Korea, the Shah in Iran. Less known but still part of the American network are a string of other despots, from Videla in Argentina to Marcos in the Philippines.

When foul-ups do occur and a government we have been propping up totters and falls—as in South Vietnam in 1975—we can revert to a mean-spirited foreign policy.

As James Wallis, the editor of Sojourners magazine, writes: “Since the war ended, the U.S. has pursued a policy toward Vietnam marked by vengeance and political retaliation for inflicting an embarrassing defeat of the most powerful nation in the world. The U.S. government has yet to take any responsibility for the massive destruction it caused, has refused any reconstruction aid, and has even sought to block aid to Vietnam from other countries and private agencies. . . . This continuing political assault against Vietnam has exaggerated the country’s already difficult task of rebuilding its war-torn land and has greatly contributed to the refugee problem.”

In recent weeks, the Stone Age lobby—the inheritors of the Vietnam-era thinking that we should bomb Hanoi back to the Stone Age—has had all it could do to bite its tongue. It recalls how he-man Gerald Ford didn’t let America be pushed around in the Mayaguez case. In that display of diplomacy by gunfire, Ford saved 40 captives—and sent 41 rescuers to their deaths.

That was true national humiliation. A weak nation provoked a strong one into the greater weakness of irrational violence. The fury with which many Americans are damning the ayatollah is a reminder that nations, as well as persons, often take refuge in painless finger-pointing rather than endure the anguish of self-examination to see where the blame really does lie.

The taking of hostages by the Tehran students was a blatant crime. And assuredly Khomeini is a violence-prone fanatic. But he is victimizing America, not humiliating us. His particular madness is part of the instability that has brutalized the poor and the powerless in Iran for decades. We are being burned by the fires our own leaders created. It is a moment not for humiliation, but awareness.

Legal abortion safe and wanted

In response to recent letters appearing in the DE, I felt compelled to offer to readers some facts:

- Teens and adults are sexually active;
- Sex education for those of all ages is sorely lacking;
- Availability of existing contraceptive measures is sorely lacking, particularly to teens in rural areas such as Southern Illinois;
- Knowledge of proper use of existing contraceptive measures are known to have adverse medical consequences to users;
- No existing contraceptive measure is foolproof. There is currently no sure way to prevent unwanted pregnancy;

—First trimester abortion is medically safer than childbirth;

—Legal abortion is safer than illegal abortion;

—People have sought and will seek to terminate unwanted pregnancies;

—Making abortion illegal will not stop people from seeking abortions—it will only force people into dangerous alternatives.

—Southern Illinoisans for Abortion Rights, Box 965, Carbondale, an affiliate of the National Abortion Rights Action League (NARAL), is committed to keeping abortion safe and legal.

Slow transit service needs more cars

I wish to express my appreciation for the women’s transit program. It is a much needed service. There are many areas of campus and Carbondale that are poorly lit. Since some buildings on campus are open late, like the library, the transit permits women to pursue their studies until midnight. That is of course if you don’t mind waiting anywhere from 15-20 minutes (the time usually given) to 50 minutes.

Yes, I have had to wait that long. Then there is the ride home in which I have seen parts of Carbondale I had never seen before, some of which are quite a bit out of the way of my destination. Now I understand that the other women have to be picked up and dropped off at their destinations, but it seems that it should not take up to an hour or more to get home at night. When I am waiting I wonder how long it will really take for the transit to arrive. If they tell you 15-20 minutes you can expect 40 minutes.

Of course I could probably walk to most destinations in less than 40 minutes, but I keep hoping that maybe it won’t take that long this time, and besides, there is always the possibility of harm to a female walking in the dark. So I wait and wait and wait. The drivers of the women’s transit are very courteous and apologetic. They have explained on some occasions that there was only one car driving. One car for a school with 22,695 students?

If half of them are female or even if a small percentage are women, surely SIU-C needs more than one or two transit cars to serve them. As it gets colder, I do not relish the thought of having to stand in Morris Library’s front parking lot for possibly an hour (or longer in the winter). If my fees are going to be raised to fund this service I think we should have good service.

Ask dean about broken equipment

As the instructor in Radio-TV 300M, I respond to Christopher Milligan’s letter of Nov. 1 that Radio-TV students enrolled in 300M are being deprived of an education and receive aggravation and headaches because the majority of the radio equipment, TV cameras, lights, and speakers don’t work. Mr. Milligan doesn’t think it is fair. He’s right. It isn’t fair. But I assure you your grade will not suffer because of it.

Moreover, things could be worse. If it weren’t for Jimmy Moore, Chief Engineer at WSIU and his staff, none of the equipment would be working at all—ever. The engineering staff is hired to keep the radio and television stations on the air. That is the job they are paid to do. They work for Broadcast Services. They do not work for the Radio-TV Department. They are not contracted to fix equipment used in classroom instruction.

“How, then, does the equipment get fixed?” you ask. The engineers who work for Broadcast Services do it for nothing, out of the goodness of their hearts. But, they can fix classroom equipment used in radio and TV production courses only after their own job is done. And there is so much work involved in keeping the radio and TV stations on the air, that sometimes the engineers cannot take on this extra work.

“Who is contracted to fix the equipment used in 300M?” you ask. The answer is nobody.

“Why isn’t something being done about this?” you ask. I don’t know either. You should ask the Dean of Communications, C.B. Hunt.

War and hate in Iran

The Ayatollah Khomeini, known to Iran as a holy man, I feel is preaching dissident principles: hate and war. He has brought the whole Middle East to a boiling point. American embassies and other buildings have been attacked or burned.

Khomeini just recently stated “... An Islamic country ought to be a military one...” Islam celebrates their religious holidays or “Holy Days” by blowing up their Grand Mosque in Mecca.

Islam is showing itself to be a regressive force, and a religion that seems to be at odds with itself. These events show an inability of Islam to deal peacefully with people of different religions and beliefs.

Energy awareness, projects benefit town, says Fischer

By Shelley Davis
Staff Writer

Citizens who are knowledgeable about energy should educate community leaders about renewable energy sources, says Carbondale Mayor Hans Fischer.

That is the "main way small communities can obtain results in energy conservation," Fischer said. Credible individuals must continue the flow of information about more efficient energy sources to elected officials, he said.

"Elected officials are, unfortunately, more reactive to input from citizens than in keeping ahead of the issues," Fischer said. "Personal contacts have become an important aspect."

Fischer, speaking at the Student Center Wednesday, said that these citizens must also work to educate other citizens in the community.

"The more people that vote, the more that know what they are talking about, and more elected officials will respond," he said.

The input of citizens in addition to the help from people at SIU-C can work together to maintain "an on-going interest in energy conservation," Fischer said. "Carbondale is a leader in Illinois," Fischer said. But he added that he isn't completely pleased with the efforts made by Carbondale so far. "If you could see how other communities do things it would blow your mind," he said.

Several projects are currently being considered by the city that will lead to what Fischer hopes to be a 50 percent reduction in energy consumption by 1990.

One of these projects is a proposal currently being considered in the City Council to pass a residential building code relating to insulation standards—standards strict enough to cut energy use, Fischer said.

Another involves developing an alcohol "still" that would produce ethanol. Fischer said the site of the manufacturing facility may be in the Carbondale Industrial Park.

"We are financially strong and technically capable enough in the process to develop an alcohol fuel still," Fischer said. "And we are considering converting our in-city vehicle fleet to 100 percent ethanol in order to make a ready outlet for the product." Not only will energy conservation be a benefit for individuals but Fischer said it will aid the city as a whole.

"The cost for energy flowing out of the community is unbelievable," Fischer said. "What happens to these dollars is they go to Central Illinois Public Service. Our objective is to keep those dollars in the community."

Post Office hours set for Saturdays

The Carbondale branch of the U.S. Post Office will be accepting parcels on Saturdays until Dec. 22 in order to keep up with the holiday rush. Parcel pick-up will also be available.

The main post office on Route 13 east will be open from 8 a.m. to noon and the branch office, 305 Main St., from 8:30 a.m. to noon, Dec. 8 and 15. Both offices will be closed on Saturdays as of Dec. 22.

Student advisor meeting to be held

A meeting for anyone interested in becoming a Student Life Advisor for spring semester will be held at 7 p.m. Sunday in Activity Rooms A and B.

The advisors are needed to help new second semester students at SIU-C.

Music can cause ear damage

By Jordaa Gold
Staff Writer

Hearing loss. It occurs among all age groups, though it usually affects older people.

Hearing loss occurs when the nerve endings in the ear are damaged. This is called sensory-neural hearing loss. It usually happens in the higher speech frequencies first, according to James McElroy, owner of Carbondale Hearing Aid Center in Murdale Shopping Center.

"Because men's voices are lower, some people with a hearing loss will be able to hear a man's voice much easier than a woman's or a child's," he said.

Ten percent of the population have some type of a hearing loss. Of those, most are older, according to William Carver, visiting assistant professor of audiology.

"But that age is coming down," he said.

The reason for this is noise. Rock concerts have typical sound levels of 110 to 120 decibels. Government regulations for industry say that a person cannot spend more than seven and one-half minutes at one time in a room with a sound level of 120 decibels.

Acoustic guitarist to perform

Singer-songwriter Joanne Pappelis will perform shows at 8 and 9:30 p.m. Friday in the Student Center's Old Main Room as part of the International Coffeehouse Series. Admission is $1.50.

Pappelis describes her original compositions as "neurotic folk songs." In addition to them, she performs other artists' material, which are songs that "people don't hear too often."

Pappelis, who has played the acoustic guitar for the past 15 years, has been performing in the Carbondale area since 1974.

She appeared with Shawn Colvin in a coffeehouse act last year. In addition, she has performed as part of the Patio Series in the Student Center.

Pappelis said Randy Newman, Billie Holliday, Tom Waits and Alvin and the Chipmunks are her greatest influences.

Math used to solve design problem

By Jenell Olson
Staff Writer

An exhibit of 5 feet by 5 feet multi-colored rosettes will be on display from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Dec. 11 through Dec. 15 in the design department of the Blue Barracks.

The rosettes, which were constructed by students in Design 100, "Structure and Form," were made by arranging rhombuses (equalateral parallelograms) according to certain mathematical rules for symmetrical patterns, said Alan Schoen, professor of design.

There are 13 different shapes of rhombuses, each of which were assigned a different color. All the colors of the rainbow were used for the project.

"The problem of the assignment was for each student to devise a pattern that was both symmetrical and pleasing," Schoen said. "A lot of refinement - trial and error - was required."

Schoen said the patterns are "vaguely reminiscent of those of stained-glass windows." He added that the patterns may be applied to the design of wall hangings, ornamental ceramic tile patterns, hooked rugs, quilts and inlay table tops.

Schoen said he assigned the project to a class he had last year, but the students found it impossible to do. So Schoen decided to take a closer look at the assignment and discovered that it was, indeed, impossible without knowledge of some mathematical rules.

City's residents to address council at town meeting

Residents of the northeast side of Carbondale who would like to address the City Council will get the opportunity at a Town Meeting scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday in the Council Chambers, 607 E. College St.

The meeting will precede the informal City Council meeting scheduled for Monday. Following discussion by residents from the northeast side of Carbondale, residents from any other quadrant of the city will be allowed to address the council, according to Randy Jackson, public information officer.

The city schedules four Town Meetings each year, one for each quadrant of the city, to allow citizens the opportunity to address the council.

Bands can cause hearing loss

member's hearing," Carver said. "He was about 22 or 23 years old and he loved music. It was his livelihood, but it was destroying his hearing. He didn't know what he was going to do."

Naturally, the people who are most susceptible to hearing loss are those who work around loud sounds. Men experience hearing loss more often than women, largely because of their occupations.

McElroy says it is sometimes difficult for a person to know whether or not he or she has a hearing problem.

"One of the symptoms of hearing loss is that a person will ask you to repeat what you said," McElroy stated. "People around that person will say that the person has a habit of saying 'huh.' It is a habit, but the habit arose out of a need to hear what another person has said. The need to have something repeated evolves into a habit."

McElroy said that other symptoms of hearing loss include saying that everyone mumbles and saying that people never talk directly to them.

SIU-C offers hearing testing for students and the community.

"We offer a variety of tests and measures that are designed to rehabilitate the hard of hearing," Carver said. "We fit and prescribe hearing aids and send people to other places to buy them."

"All a hearing aid can do is to make things louder," Carver said. There is no known way to restore hearing once the nerves have been damaged, he added.

Though human hearing extends from 20 to 20,000 cycles per second (hertz, or Hz), the auditory range is only from 250 to 8,000 Hz. And the critical range is up to about 4,000 Hz.

"Hearing aids extend out to about 6,300 to 7,500 Hz," Carver said. "And a few years ago, they only went out to about 4,500 Hz."

Activities Fair set for Student Center

Organizations or clubs interested in obtaining exposure or attracting new members are invited to participate in "Catch It," the spring open house-activities fair which will be in the Student Center Feb. 8.

In conjunction with the activity, organizations may present a skit or demonstration or sell goods. They may set up their own area or combine efforts with other groups.

In order to participate, groups must decide what they want to do and apply at the Office of Student Development in the Student Center by 7 p.m. Dec. 17.

The Student Center will provide tables, pegboards and electricity. If other equipment, such as slide projectors and screens, is necessary, the Student Center Scheduling-Catering Office should be contacted by Jan. 23.

Auditions for short play held at Newman Center

Auditions for a short medieval miracle play, "The Miracle of the Blind Man and the Cripple," will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. Monday through Wednesday at the Newman Center.

Directed by Paul Lundrigan, a doctoral candidate in the Department of Theater, the play has three speaking parts and several roles for town-people. The main characters are the minstrel, the cripple and the blind man. The minstrel must be able to play the lute, flute or recorder.

Scripts for the play are available at the Newman Center of the office of the Department of Theater.

The play will be presented February 19 and 20 in conjunction with Ash Wednesday, according to Rev. Jim DeManuelle of the Newman Center.

Radiation effects hotline may be forced to close

By Jacqui Koszcruk
Staff Writer

The Radiation Effects Information Hotline, which has been operating in Illinois on a trial basis, will close this month if additional funding for the project is not acquired.

Operating out of the Argonne National Laboratory in Lemont, the hotline was established in September by 15 radiation experts, most of whom worked as consultants during the Three-Mile Island accident.

The purpose of the project, according to co-founder McLouis Robinet, is to provide the public with "immediate and accurate, person-to-person information about radiation" via a toll-free phone service.

"It became clear to us at Three-Mile Island that people have great misconceptions about radiation," said Robinet, also a health physicist at Argonne. "They have difficulty interpreting the information they get from the media because many times the media have a hard time interpreting the radiation data they get from sources."

Robinet and his colleagues were hired by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission to assess the impact of the radiation leaks on the Harrisburg population.

The experience prompted the group to approach the Health Physicists Society, a national organization of radiation protection experts, with a proposal for a nationwide public information service. Although the HPS said it could not fund such a broad service, it agreed to fund a pilot project in Illinois for three months.

The service is scheduled to close Dec. 1. The staff is petitioning regional chapters of the HPS for funds in an attempt to keep the service going until the national organization decides whether it should be continued on a permanent basis.

Response to the hotline "has not been overwhelming," Robinet said, "because we don't have the money to publicize it the way we need to."

The staff receives an average of six calls per day, and sometimes receives as many as 31 per day.

"We had anticipated getting many calls about nuclear reactor safety, but have since found that only 12 percent of the calls relate to that," he said.

Most of the questions, about 27 percent according to Robinet, have been about the medical uses of radiation, such as X-ray and nuclear medicine diagnostic testing. The next largest category of questions have pertained to radiation from consumer products such as microwave ovens, color television, smoke detectors, and luminous watches.

Some callers have requested environmental radiation information, and others just want general information, he said.

The toll-free number for the Radiation Effects Information Hotline is 800-942-9440.

Amnesty chapter to hold meeting on capital punishment

The Carbondale area chapter of Amnesty International has announced the start of a Southern Illinois campaign against the death penalty. The chapter, AI-USA Group 152, will hold a public meeting on the death penalty at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the basement of the Carbondale Savings and Loan, at the corner of Main and Poplar Streets.

According to Mike Scheetman, a member of Group 152, "This public meeting is the first step in the group's local initiative to assist Amnesty International's worldwide campaign against the death penalty, which was begun this fall. The United States is one of 10 countries targeted in this campaign, and Illinois is one of a half dozen states that has been adopted by another country, Great Britain, for massive letter writing campaigns to state governors and legislators," he said.

"Monday night's meeting will include a film on the death penalty as well as a status report on the death penalty in Illinois and those people who are on death row in this state."

The group was started in Carbondale approximately one year ago, and has members in Jackson and Williamson counties. The group has been involved in letter writing campaigns for the release of prisoners of conscience throughout the world.

"We are supportive of men and women anywhere who have been detained for their beliefs, color, ethnic origin or religion provided that they have never advocated or used violence," Scheetman said.

Poverty issue in famine prevention; economic and social sense is key

By Conrad Stuntz
Staff Writer

A featured government speaker at SIU-C's Forum on Famine Prevention says that the real problem in worldwide famine prevention is poverty.

D. Woods Thomas, executive director of the Board of International Food and Agricultural Development, told an audience of faculty and students Monday that food production problems are usually indicators of other problems.

"Famine prevention really indicates that we have to deal with famine in an economic and social sense," he said. "Famine prevention is just the tip of the iceberg."

"The agricultural sector really has to become the leading sector for the general growth of these (underdeveloped) economies," Thomas added.

"We have only been keeping pace" in food production, he said, speaking for the agricultural sector. "Now that's not all bad. But it just hasn't been good enough."

The worldwide food shortage situation could very well get worse over the next 20 to 25 years, because the world's population is expected to grow to seven or eight billion within that time, he said.

Citing national self-interest as one of BIFAD's reasons for institution-building in foreign countries, Thomas said that BIFAD promotes international political and economic stability and the continued growth of the U.S. economy.

"Those people (from future increased populations) can be economic zeros if they are poor or they can be economic customers of the world if they are not poor," he said.

Institution-building also creates possibilities of mutual benefits to solving U.S. agriculture and energy problems as well as benefits to university educational programs, he said. He cited professional exposure of faculty and graduates to foreign societies.

SIU-C recently received a $500,000, five-year grant from the Agency for International Development — BIFAD's mother agency — to strengthen the university's ability to help underdeveloped countries build agricultural programs.

In discussing Title XII of the Foreign Assistance Act, Thomas said that it gives AID guidance in building agricultural educational programs "to begin modern agriculture that can pick people up out of poverty" and in tapping the "human capacity" of underdeveloped nations. Title XII created BIFAD as a part of AID.

Title XII also made it clear that "those things which we do in agricultural development and strengthening will be judged by Congress in terms of what the universities do for these countries in agricultural development," he added.

Title XII is a response by Congress to AID's failure to invest in research in agricultural technology, Thomas said. Through Title XII, Congress stipulated that AID use the agricultural expertise in universities in collaboration with underdeveloped foreign countries to prevent famine.

"We simply must find ways to allow this type of expertise to work systematically with our colleagues abroad to solve their problems," he said. He called American universities "the greatest agglomeration of technical expertise in the world."

Police in Chicago find suspected robbery truck

By Bill Crowe
Staff Writer

A yellow rental truck, apparently used in a weekend armed robbery in Carbondale, has been found abandoned in Chicago.

The truck, suspected to have been used to transport an estimated $20,000 to $30,000 in stereo equipment from Grand Central Stereo, 921 E. Main St., was found Wednesday in a southside Chicago neighborhood by Illinois State Police investigators, Carbondale police said.

However, none of the equipment stolen from the store was recovered, according to Lt. Jerry Reno of the Carbondale Police Department. The truck had 670 miles registered on the odometer.

Previn Sanford, 17; Ansia Willis Jr., 18; Albert Davis, 19; and James Coleman Jr., 20, have each been charged with two counts of armed robbery and one count of theft over $150.

All four are being held in Jackson County Jail on $50,000 bond.

The four allegedly entered the store with a sawed-off shotgun and another rifle shortly after it opened. Thirteen employees, some of them bound at the hands and feet with tape, were held in a display room of the store for almost two hours while television and stereo equipment was taken outside.

Shortly after noon Saturday, the four were arrested by a Du Quoin State Trooper after he stopped their car for a speeding violation on U.S. Interstate 57 near Benton.

Police theorize that more than the four arrested men were involved in the robbery, said Tom McNamara of Carbondale police. He also said that although none of the stolen pieces of equipment were recovered from the truck some pieces of evidence may have been recovered.

Star Trek 'blasts off' Friday

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Star Trek — The Motion Picture" blasts off in 900 U.S. and Canada theaters Friday, culminating the biggest gamble in Hollywood history.

Consider the hazards: —Production costs set an all-time record, reportedly at $42 million.

—The movie is based on a television series that failed in its first run, though its reruns attracted a legion of followers.

—The stars are not exactly box-office names: Leonard Nimoy, William Shatner and DeForest Kelly from the series, plus India-born Persis Khambatta as the bald Ilia.

—Popularity of the space spectacular may have peaked with "Star Wars" and "Close Encounters of the Third Kind."

Despite these drawbacks, Paramount Pictures executives say they are jubilant over the finished film and confident that the gamble will produce heavy rewards.

Survey polls student needs

cording to the Office of Admissions of Records, the trend is the same at SIU-C. There are 5,584 students over 24 years old enrolled this fall, compared to last year's figure of 5,389. That is an increase of 195 students.

Swinburne said time is one of the major problems non-traditional students encounter.

"Time is so important to these students. They resent time-consuming registration processes. And they appreciate extra time on an informal basis with the faculty. Those touches are important," he said.

Watson said the committee hopes to have the results of the survey by early spring, if enough responses are received.

"The major concern at this time is that we get enough of the surveys back so that the results will be statistically significant," she said.

Scott hopes games match practices

By Scott Stahmer
Staff Writer

Matching the quality of the games with the quality of practice.

That is the primary objective the SIU women's basketball team has in games Saturday at Central Missouri State and Monday against Murray State in Davies Gym. Lady Saluki Coach Cindy Scott said her team has practiced well this week.

"We've looked really good in practice," she said of her 3-3 team. "This was probably the best week we've had all year. I think we realize the potential we have. We're ready to make a commitment toward realizing that potential."

Scott said two players — Sandy Martin and Keilye Rogers — have played particularly well in practice. She added that Martin, who has played little this year, will see action this weekend.

"Sandy has looked super in practice," Scott said. "And Keilye is getting stronger every day."

Scott said the players are "excited" that Sue Faber, who has missed the first six games because of a knee injury, will play this weekend.

"She scrimmaged with the team for the first time Wednesday," Scott said. "She'll be a stabilizing force. She does so many things well."

Scott said SIU will have to be at its best to defeat Central Missouri State and Murray State. She said Central Missouri is "probably the strongest team in Missouri — even stronger than the University of Missouri."

"We beat them by 20 (80-60) last year, but that was early in the season," Scott said. "They recruited some young players who are supposed to be pretty good. Their coach is Mildred Barnes, who is very experienced and knowledgeable."

Scott said the Jennies will employ a zone defense and probably will try to push the ball up the floor rather than use the fast break.

Scott anticipates a different style of play in Monday's 7:30 p.m. game against Murray.

State. Murray, she said, prefers to play at an accelerated tempo. "They're very small and quick and they try to run with the ball," Scott said. "When we played them last month, they played zone most of the time, but they did press some."

SIU defeated Murray, 72-69, in the teams' first meeting. The Salukis trailed by nine at halftime, but came back in the second half.

"We played a poor first half down there," Scott said. "We came out in the second half and put things together. Recently, Murray beat Louisville. I'm looking forward to playing them with Sue."

Scott said one of the keys to defeating the Racers is neutralizing guard Laura Lynn, whom she said is MSU's best player.

Vogel said, the Peoria native will be entered in the floor exercise and balance beam.

Louisville, last year's ninth-place team at the AIAW nationals, has seniors Bobby Ann Hunt, Cindy Terhand and Laurie Salvaggio returning. They were Louisville's top all-around scorers last season.

"Those two weeks probably are the worst we could have chosen to have these meets," the 16-year coach said. "The team has been only able to have limited workouts because of the time. Thomas saw action for the first time against Roosevelt. The 6-9 forward scored four points in five minutes.

"Slim (Thomas' nickname) got caught up in the action against Roosevelt," Gottfried said. "He could prove to be a big plus for us in this tournament."

Gottfried said senior guard Wayne Abrams, who poured in 20 second-half points against Roosevelt, could be the key against Arizona.

"We've changed Wayne's position a bit," Gottfried said. "He'll be able to drive towards the basket more. Wayne can score in heavy traffic, and will be able to draw fouls."

"We'll use a little bit of both our quickness and our size," Gottfried continued. "We'll use whatever it takes to play our best game."

basketball games and volleyball tournament, so we're behind in training."

The Salukis practice on the upper concourse of the Arena. Bleachers have been pulled out since Monday for this week's events.

Vogel said the lineup against Louisville will be similar to the one used against Memphis State. Team captain Maureen Hennessey, Val Painton, Pam Harrington and Conklin, if healthy, will be competing in the all-around. Patti Tveit will be entered in vaulting, balance beam and floor exercise.

Favorites roll on in national tourney

SIU's Ann Cronin prepares to spike the ball while Robin Deterding watches. The Salukis dropped their three games Thursday at the AIAW national tournament. SIU lost to Ohio State, Pepperdine and Pittsburgh. The Salukis face Pacific University Friday morning at 9 a.m.

By Mark Pablich
Staff Writer

Volleyballs were flying everywhere in the Arena, being hit, spiked and blocked by hundreds of women in brightly colored shorts and sweat suits. The women's national volleyball championship's preliminary rounds began Thursday morning, with play continuing Friday and Saturday.

The Salukis began pool play against Midwestern regional champion Ohio State, losing in two straight games, 15-11, 15-11. Coach Debbie Hunter was disappointed her squad fell to the Buckeyes.

"I felt like we could have and should have won both games," Hunter said. "We had a few times when we didn't capitalize on the other team's mistakes, and we fell back."

SIU, which played three matches Thursday, lost next to Pepperdine, 15-8, 15-7. In the first game, the Salukis were down 13-0 before freshmen Leslie Lee rattled off six serves, putting SIU back in the game. "We played well and came back against Pepperdine," Hunter said. "They were a big team and they attacked the ball well. I was pleased with our passing."

In SIU's third game, the Salukis lost to Pittsburgh, 15-8, 15-12. Utah State and Hawaii, seeded first and second in the tournament, showed everyone why they were ranked at the top of the nation's 20 best teams. The Rainbow Wahines of Hawaii defeated Southwest Missouri 15-2, 15-8. The "Bows" also handed New Mexico State two losses, 16-14, 15-9.

Hawaii Coach Dave Shoji was confident about his team's progress in the tournament.

"We've played well so far," Shoji said. "We're one of the more mature teams in the tournament. We're small, but exciting to watch."

Also a thrill to watch is defending champion Utah State, which easily defeated Portland State 15-2, 15-2, and the University of Texas-Arlington, 15-9, 15-7. Utah State Coach Mary Jo Peppier, a former women's superstars champion, said her team has done well all season. She sees the success continuing.

"This is one of the best years we've had at Utah State," Peppier said. "It was an honor to be seeded first, but there are some other teams that could gain the title."

Twelfth-seeded Ohio State pulled an upset, as the Buckeyes shocked fourth-ranked Pacific, 15-4, 15-8.

UCLA, seeded third, defeated Florida State 15-9, 15-5. The Bruins, who hold more AIAW volleyball championships than any school, handed Purdue a loss in two games, 15-2, 15-8. At one time, the second game was tied 6-6.

"It always happens in volleyball. One team will win big, then relax during the second game," UCLA Coach Andy Banachowski said. "We're just lucky we don't get excited and don't lose our heads."

Banachowski praised Denise Corlett, one of the Bruins' top players. Corlett is an All-American.

"She plays intelligently," he said. "She's the team leader. We always can count on her to help pull us through."

First Round Scores:

Portland State defeated Lamar, 15-4, 15-12.
University of Washington defeated New Mexico State, 13-15, 15-7, 15-6.

ASU is first foe at Fiesta Classic

By Mark Pablich
Staff Writer

The Saluki men's basketball team picked its 109-75 victory over Roosevelt away and headed for the sunshine of Tempe, Ariz. Thursday, to prepare for this weekend's Fiesta Classic.

Head Coach Joe Gottfried, obviously pleased with the weather, said he was anxious for his team to get in some tough competition.

"It's so warm and nice here," Gottfried said. "This tournament will give our team some excellent competition. We'll have to play our best. In a tournament of this caliber, the players usually put forth their best efforts."

SIU will open the tournament Friday night against host Arizona State. The Sun Devils, picked sixth in the Pacific Ten Conference, are a big team, according to Gottfried.

"Their front line is strong and has size," Gottfried said. "Kurt Nimphius, their center, is 6-10 and can do it all. Their other forwards are 6-8 and 6-7."

The Sun Devils are also big in the backcourt, with two freshman guards, Byron Scott, 6-4, and Paul Williams, 6-6. Arizona defeated Houston by 15 points in its only game.

Gottfried said Arizona State's size would give the Sun Devils a rebounding advantage, something that concerns the SIU coach.

"We're going to be outsize on the boards all year," Gottfried said. "Sure, it worries me that they'll have an advantage in the middle.

"Our team has other skills that we can use to compensate Arizona State's rebounding potential. Our game plan will be to run with the ball. We'll use quickness and fast passing."

The second-year coach said the Salukis would try to control the tempo and style of the game.

"We'll go with our same starting lineup and try to speed up or slow down to where we can be in charge. If our running game isn't effective, however, we'll add some size to our lineup."

In that case, sophomore Ed Thomas and freshmen Karl Morris, Dave Youngblood and Darnall Jones will see playing (Continued on Page 19)

Gymnasts to begin difficult schedule

By Rick Klatt
Staff Writer

The women's gymnastics team will begin a difficult eight days Friday when it travels to Louisville, Ky. for a dual meet with seventh-ranked Louisville.

The Salukis, sporting a 1-0 record after last Saturday's 129-90-114.95 victory over Memphis State, will face the Cardinals Friday, 12th ranked Minnesota Dec. 14, and Iowa State Dec. 15. All three meets are on the road.

SIU, short three athletes because of ineligibility, may have lost another during a light workout Monday. Junior Pam Conklin (tell off the uneven bars during her routine and has had problems breathing since).

Lori Erickson, Karen Parker and Denise Didier will not be able to compete until spring semester because of AIAW eligibility rules.

"We'll know whether or not Pam can compete before Friday," Coach Herb Vogel said. "If she can't, Marti Traxler will go on the bars."

Vogel said Traxler, a sophomore from Chicago, will be needed. With Conklin out, the Salukis' depth in uneven bars is down to three. Traxler made the team as a walk-on after sitting out last season.

Vogel said also that sophomore Lisa Peden, who sat out the Salukis' first meet because of an ankle sprain, may suit up. If Peden competes,

Writer's mother unhappy with letters on football story

This is Evelyn Stahmer. You know, Scott's mom. Scott decided to take the day off. He's tired of all the flak he's getting in the Letters to the Editor about that football column he wrote.

As his mother, I know Scott better than just about anybody, and I agree he's thin-skinned — except for his waistline. But Scott is right about one thing. He says people like Lee Brauer and Robert Kay read too much into that column. I read the column myself, and I agree.

All Scott did was make an observation: SIU's football team has trouble drawing fans. As a sports writer, it is his job to make observations like that.

Instead of debating the accuracy of that observation, the letter writers are exploiting it to debate the athletics fee, the validity of a fee increase, library expansion, support for the arts and the fact that some students come here for academic reasons.

As someone who uses the library as often as he can (which isn't very often these days), Scott wholeheartedly agrees that Morris Library must be expanded. The facility is overcrowded, and if the funds are available, they should go first toward updating the building.

Scott agrees also that SIU is an academic institution before it is an athletics one. He said the main reason most SIU students should come here is to get an education. He isn't very wrapped up in football, or any other sport, to realize that.

He said, however, that some students need to realize that there is life outside the classroom. He goes by what is written in the Yale Daily News' "Insider's Guide to the Colleges."
